

Struggle-La-Lucha.org

MOVE Children Deserve to Rest in Peace: Rally at Penn Museum For Repatriation and Reparations April 28

written by Struggle - La Lucha
April 25, 2021

<https://www.struggle-la-lucha.org/2021/04/25/move-children-deserve-to-rest-in-peace-rally-at-penn-museum-for-repatriation-and-reparations-april-28/>

APRIL 28 AT 5:30 PM EDT

MOVE Children Deserve to Rest in Peace: Rally at Penn Museum For Repatriation and Reparations

Penn Museum

MOVE Children Deserve to Rest in Peace!

For decades, Penn Museum at University of Pennsylvania unethically held hostage the remains of Delisha Africa and Tree Africa, two children killed in the May 13, 1985 bombing of MOVE by the city of Philadelphia.

They did so without the knowledge and consent of their living family members, who believed they were buried in 1985.

This means that not only were MOVE children abused and mistreated, bombed and burned by the police, now we find out that they have not been allowed to rest in peace.

We demand answers, the return of the remains of Delisha and Tree Africa, and justice for MOVE.

Sign on and share demands at bit.ly/justiceforMOVE.

The demands are:

- 1-immediate return of remains of Delisha and Tree Africa
- 2-full investigation of Penn and Princeton's role in the unethical possession of their remains
- 3-fire Penn faculty and curator Janet Monge
- 4-a formal apology from Princeton and Penn
- 5-reparations for these atrocities

SEE YOU IN THE STREETS ON 4/28 AT PENN MUSEUM

On a Move!

<https://www.struggle-la-lucha.org/2021/04/25/move-children-deserve-to-rest-in-peace-rally-at-penn-museum-for-repatriation-and-reparations-april-28/>